Fund Management Commentary

LOYS Global had a difficult start into spring, with prices falling by almost 3%. The world's financial markets are now in bear market mode. Sharply rising long-term interest rates and the war in Ukraine dominate the media headlines. We are seeing a flight to the U.S. dollar; the euro, yen and yuan are plummeting in value. Meanwhile, growth expectations for almost all economies worldwide are being significantly lowered. Nonetheless, the quarterly results of companies look robust for the most part. The German government lowered its economic forecast for the second time this year. By contrast, inflationary pressure remains high, especially as government measures and imported inflation are driving up prices. LOYS Global was recently positioned in the payment services sector by taking initial positions in Worldline and Paypal.

Important Information:

<sup>1</sup>The gross value development (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, the management fee) with the exception of any front-end load that may be incurred (this is otherwise marked separately). Additional costs may be incurred individually at customer level (e.g. custody account fees, commissions and other fees). Model calculation (net): One investor would like to purchase units for EUR 1000. With a maximum initial sales charge of 5%, he or she must spend a one-off of EUR 50. Additionally, custody account costs may be incurred which affect the performance of the portfolio reduce the deposit costs. The custody account costs result from the price and service list of your Bank.
